LETTER FROM PRESIDENT LION MARTHA SANDY

My Dear Fellow Lions,

March ends the contest reporting of all the clubs to the District for activities and donations. The reason that the contest ends earlier than the fiscal year is to award the clubs on their accomplishments for club activities at the District Convention. This is one of the reasons you will not want to miss out on attending the District Convention May 17-19. On Saturday, the club awards are announced, and it is the moment you really feel the camaraderie and accomplishments of our club.

It is also the day when the food fair is held. You can meet other Lions from the District as you walk around and sample the delicious variety of meals and enjoy listening to the good music. Don't forget to visit all of the other club's hospitality suites to check out their decorations and see what it takes to win 1st place.

The pirate decorations for our hospitality suite have been purchased, and those checking in on Friday can help me decorate. Lion John Ficarra will supply our room with all kinds of snacks and drinks in time for everyone to cheer our club in the Barbershop Quartet Contest headed by Lion Lucy Tan. Those participating in the Parade Contest will do a quick change into their pirate costumes and compete in the parade outside of our room in the courtyard.

If you can sing, write a skit, or enjoy creating props, please contact Lion John Ficarra. We need you! Sign up today to come to the Convention, and volunteer to participate. We work hard but we play hard too!

Thanks to all of the nominees for stepping up and supporting our club by accepting your new positions! This is a pivotal time for the President Elect John Miller as he selects his committee chairs and prepares his officers for their term.

On July 14th all of these new members on the Board of Directors for 2013-2014 will be installed. The past Board of Directors will be honored and the President will pass the bell over to President Elect John Miller. Save the date and mark your calendars!

It is the tradition for the incoming President to run the meetings beginning in June, and I would like everyone to introduce themselves and welcome President Elect John Miller during the month of June! We will not have a meeting July 9th.

Thank you PDG Roger Chinn for your relentless persistence in bringing in our Lion volunteers to help out Lion Herb Perez with his highly successful Easter Egg Hunt. Thank you Lion Herb Perez for your generosity in advertising our club as a sponsor and allowing our members to participate!

Don't forget the Blood Drive on Sat., April 13th and Rebuilding Together on April 27th.

Yours in Lionism,
Martha

LIONS CODE of ETHICS

TO SHOW my faith in the worthiness of my vocation by industrious application to the end that I may merit a reputation for quality of service.

TO SEEK success and to demand all fair remuneration or profit as my just due, but to accept no profit or success at the price of my own self-respect lost because of unfair advantage taken or because of questionable acts on my part.

TO REMEMBER that in building up my business it is not necessary to tear down another's; to be loyal to my clients or customers and true to myself.

WHENEVER a doubt arises as to the right or ethics of my position or action towards others, to resolve such doubt against myself.

TO HOLD friendship as an end and not a means. To hold that true friendship exists not on account of the service performed by one to another, but that true friendship demands nothing but accepts service in the spirit in which it is given.

ALWAYS to bear in mind my obligations as a citizen to my nation, my state and my community, and to give them my unswerving loyalty in word, act and deed. To give them freely of my time, labor, and means.

TO AID others by giving my sympathy to those in distress, my aid to the weak, and my substance to the needy.

TO BE CAREFUL with my criticism and liberal with praise; to build up and not destroy.

A Year in Review

Last year, LCIF and Lions brought hope to millions of people worldwide, thanks to your generosity. Because of you, Rangita was able to see her father for the first time after cataract surgery; Sanjay in Nepal was able to help provide measles vaccinations to children in need; Sunidhi in India was able to better understand adolescence through Lions Quest; and Indji in Haiti was able to attend a nursing school, which was rebuilt following the earthquake in 2010. Read through LCIF's Annual Report story in LION magazine to learn how your donations to the Foundation changed lives and gave hope to millions of people around the world. Thank you for your support!

IN A WORLD OF SERVICE Wayne Madden Lions Clubs International President

The Best Team There Ever Was

Traveling the world as I do, there is not a lot of time to watch TV. But I was able to catch parts of a few college basketball games this spring. Played at a high level, basketball is a brilliant display of teamwork. Five players race up and down the court with a collective purpose, as if tied together by an invisible string. I played basketball, as well as other sports, and few things in life match the exhilaration of belonging to a team and working together for a common goal.

A successful Lions club is a good team. Everyone plays a role. Members do their part not to receive praise and glory but to achieve a common goal. Being a Lion is so fulfilling precisely because we serve alongside people we know and like and share similar values with. Maybe non-Lions assume that service is a chore, something we feel we should do but don't really enjoy. Lions know that's a ridiculous notion. We relish belonging to a club, interacting with members at meetings and then working together for the benefit of others.

We need to share our enthusiasm as members with non-Lions and bring them into the fold. We need more women, more younger members, more minorities - more members. Let them in on the "secret" - being a Lion is not only rewarding, gratifying and fulfilling but it's also really fun.

LCI's website has tools, resources and strategies to add members. Our Global Membership Team, Global Leadership Team, the Women's and Family Development Task Force and multitudes of Lions at the district and club level are devoted to increasing membership. But we cannot reach our potential as an association unless Lions in every club reach out to prospective members. It boils down to this: the future of Lions is in good hands - your hands.

I'm no longer of the age where I can run up and down a basketball court or run the bases in baseball. But belonging to the best team ever is a central part of my life. In a World of Service, let's keep that world spinning decade after decade by retaining and recruiting new squads of Lions.

Wayne A. Madden
Lions Clubs International President

TECHNOLOGY CORNER

Hackers empty $900K bank account

In itself, a distributed denial of service, or DDoS, attack on a bank's website is little more than costly hooliganism. It essentially consists of hackers ordering a bunch of malware-infected computers to "click" on a bank's website until it's too overwhelmed to respond to legitimate users.

The effect is pretty similar to a barricade across the entrance to your bank: You can't get in, but your money is still safe inside the bank.

But what if thieves used a DDoS attack as cover for a more harmful attack that did actually compromise customer checking accounts? That appears to be exactly what happened to a customer of Bank of the West, according to a report from security blogger Brian Krebs:

A Christmas Eve cyber-attack against the website of a regional California financial institution helped to distract bank officials from an online account takeover against one of its clients, netting thieves more than $900,000.

At approximately midday on Dec. 24, 2012, organized cyber crooks began moving money out of corporate accounts belonging to Ascent Builders, a construction firm based in Sacramento, Calif. In short order, the company's financial institution -- San Francisco-based Bank of the West -- came under a large distributed denial of service (DDoS) attack-

There were 62 individuals suckered in to acting as "mules" for the stolen money, according to Krebs.

It's standard operating procedure for scammers to recruit unsuspecting individuals and businesses ("make big money working from home!") to accept a substantial deposit from thieves and wire the bulk of it overseas, keeping a portion for themselves as payments. Typically, the money clears and the mule completes the transfer, only to have the authorities catch up with them and claw back the money, leaving them on the hook for most of the losses.

Obviously, you never want to agree to accept and transfer cash as these mules did. Aside from the legal implications of engaging in what amounts to money laundering, what good are promised payoffs if they're going to be clawed back later?

Another important step to avoid having your account on the receiving end of this type of coordinated attack is having up-to-date antivirus software installed on your computer. Krebs writes that the thieves may have gained access to Ascent Builders' bank logins using malware surreptitiously installed on its computers. And you don't want that happen to you, especially on Christmas Eve.

What do you think? Do you worry about online thieves draining your accounts? What precautions do you take to prevent that from happening?

Fellow Lions,

Lions Clubs International FOUNDATION

When I have the opportunity to visit projects that are completed with the help of Lions Clubs International Foundation, I am always impressed with the range of humanitarian needs that are met. Lions believe in helping their communities and the world in so many different ways.

I was able to visit several projects in India this month, including the Lions Calcutta Greater Vidya Mandir School. The school provides an education to children who may not have such opportunities otherwise. Last year, LCIF awarded Lions a grant to help expand this school, allowing it to raise the enrollment capacity from 980 students to 1,400.

Through this project, Lions are not only serving and supporting the young people in their communities, they are also meeting a humanitarian need by providing educational opportunities. I know how important these opportunities can be for a child's development. As my father told me when I was young, you cannot keep your wealth and health forever, but only knowledge for the rest of your life.

Lions in India not only showed me this school, but also brought me to the B. B. D. Bagh blood bank at the Marwari Relief Society hospital in Kolkata. There, Lions ensure that blood donations are properly managed. Also, the capacity of the blood bank was increased through new equipment from an LCIF grant.

This notable and needed project caused me to reflect on the greater accomplishments of LCIF: Lions come together to accomplish something great and make a difference for many people worldwide. As the needs for humanitarian service evolve with time, so too must Lions and LCIF. And, I believe that we are. Thank you for your support and efforts to help people in need!

Sincerely,
Wing-Kun Tam

Chairperson, Lions Clubs International Foundation
